Why do you want a place in the Aspiring Performers Academy – Music Strand?

Acceptance into the Junior Aspiring Performers Academy (APA) Drama strand is by audition only. The two-year course focuses on extending the performance and analysis skills in young performers. Students will work with different dramatic styles and techniques in order to develop their understanding of the dramatic arts. Students will learn skills and techniques such as:

- Improvisation
- Acting Techniques
- Analysis and interpretation of existing play texts
- Theatrical design
- Scriptwriting
- Devising dramatic works

All students involved in the program perform in front of a live audience at various performance events.

If you are applying for more than one academy program, please list them below in order of preference.
